

New Rover Dog Bed Owner

This note applies only to the 3660 D.O.G.S.

These beds are now made a little tighter, so the bed will remain taut in years to come.

This makes assembly a little more difficult, but we have 2 suggestions that will make it much easier.

1. Let the bed pad and frame come up to room temperature, the warmer the better; even placing it in the sun will help.
2. In the final assembly, as shown in photo A of the instructions; you may need to use 2 people, using leverage at both ends of part C.

If you take the bed apart in the future, it will go back together much easier.

We know your pet will enjoy the tautness and support of his new bed, and we hope you'll not mind this extra step.
